EDITEL presents the latest version of eXite®

EDITEL's EDI service eXite® has been revamped to offer a comprehensive EDI package based on the most advanced technological standards.

(Vienna, 08 March 2017) – Stable, reliable, future-proof: this is what the EDI platform eXite® has embodied for more than 30 years. EDITEL recently relied on this long-standing experience to create the new version of eXite®. Peter Franzmair, the managing director of EDITEL, is clearly pleased with this development: “The new version of eXite® was partially created based on client feedback and requests. The highest degree of efficiency is ensured during all stages of data processing and onboarding thanks to the most advanced technological standards.”

The new comprehensive EDI package by EDITEL includes services for all needs, ranging from EDI communication, EDI integration, e-invoice, digital archiving and business monitoring to web EDI. Security and high availability are as important as ever. In addition, EDITEL's technology partner T-Systems ensures a fail-safe infrastructure. Peter Franzmair highlights this aspect: “I see it as our obligation as an EDI provider to guarantee state-of-the-art security and high availability for our clients at the latest technological level. This is exactly what our added value compared to bilateral data communication is all about.”

User friendliness was also a priority for the redesign of eXite®, which is reflected especially by the appealing design of the new GUI. Also, user friendliness played a big role during the development of the new eXite@ online portal, especially when it comes to the advanced search as well as tracking & tracing of EDI transactions.
